Hello Janhvi,

Here is some feedback:

Yes, we received the shipment in good condition. The quality of the packing was excellent and delicate items were not damaged. The shipment did take longer to arrive than I had expected, but that was due to delay in customs in the US and the US shipping company. There was also a slight increase in cost because the container was randomly chosen for a scan. Again, this was not your fault. Overall, I am very satisfied with the experience and would strongly recommend your company!
